Part 2: Analysis of Your Names

Analysis Based on the English Language

Your names are analyzed in this Name Report using the 26-letter English alphabet. However the effect of your names in English will be modified somewhat if, in addition, your name is taken from a language with a different alphabet. We would be pleased to discuss this matter with you. Please take advantage of the telephone support included with your Name Report.

Middle Names

Middle names do not have an influence on your personality and are not analyzed unless you are called by your middle name or if your middle name is used in your business signature.

Introduction to the Principle behind Name

The value of a name has long been immortalized in prose, poetry, and religious ceremony. Everyone recognizes himself or herself by name. The question is: how does your name influence your entire life?

Human beings are able to reason and create on a conscious level because of language. The symbols of language convey forces of conscious intelligence, which are focused on the individual through the name(s) used. Thus name represents the nucleus of one's mind and thinking.

As you read through the details of each of your names, you will notice there are specific contrasts between one name and another resulting in conflicting desires and ambitions. This is the basic cause of restrictions which will affect your personal fulfilment and success in business affairs. The degree of balance and harmony between your names determines the expression of your inner potential.

The never changing sequence of an alphabet allows mathematical measurement. Each letter by its position in the alphabet expresses a degree of intelligence. In considering the influence of name, what is important is the power of intelligence that expresses through the alphabetical symbols comprising your name. This intelligence can be defined, measured, and correlated thus determining the personality, the degree of harmony, and the results in your life.

The body is responsive to the mind. When the mind expresses discordant characteristics, the body reflects the discord as illness. For instance, hypertension can cause ulcers or headaches. The questions are: What causes the hypertension in the first place? Why does it affect different people in different ways? A study of name and its effect upon personality and health will reveal the answers to these questions.

Your First Most Used Name

As Jon, you have a natural interest in the welfare of your fellow man, and a desire to help and serve others in a humanitarian way. You are responsible and generous, although somewhat scattering and disorganized at times. Any jobs requiring systematic and conscientious effort, or involving any form of drudgery, dismay you. In your work, you would seek a position offering self-expression through contact with people, such as sales or teaching, or a position giving scope to your creative, artistic talents. You enjoy music, and probably like to sing--not necessarily professionally--but perhaps while at your work, or when at social gatherings. You are good-natured and likeable, and people tend to confide in you and seek your advice in personal problems. Others sense your sincere interest and desire to help, and you can always be counted on to see the bright side of any problem. You enjoy making others happy and you never let your own problems "get you down" for any length of time, even though you do tend to worry too much at times. Your optimism can be a source of inspiration to others as well as yourself. In close personal relationships you are usually thoughtful and considerate. However, your natural interest in others, coupled with your sympathetic reaction to problems, could draw you into emotional situations which may be difficult to get out of. This is quite a healthy name, but any problems in the health could be created through a liking for sweets, with the resultant overheated bloodstream and skin rashes.

Your Surname

The surname Wilson has created a family that is serious and responsible, yet friendly. Home life, standing among friends, and positions in the community are all very important to these people. They have respect for family traditions and full regard for their responsibility to their family and community. They have a natural ability for understanding others and putting them at ease. Adept at handling people, they are gracious hosts. They may be inclined, however, to live too much for association, and attract into their lives many people who have little to offer as friends, intellectually, or materially. Others often come to them for sympathetic understanding which they can count upon receiving. Members of this family must guard against becoming too involved personally with others, or becoming a party to gossip. Through their understanding of people, they can often give very good advice to others, yet they lack the determination and self-confidence to apply their advice to themselves. Procrastination results over hesitation in making decisions and taking positive action. Under such circumstances they worry excessively. They are not inclined towards physical or manual labour, preferring instead to work in a responsible administrative position where they have contact with people. Because there is appreciation for refinement and culture in this family, they try to have in their homes the finer and better things. Weaknesses in the health could cause worry and conditions relative to the fluid functions of the body; for example, kidney and bladder disorders, poor circulation, varicose veins, or obesity.

Your Combined Name

Your full name of Jon Wilson gives you the desire for sociable conditions with a minimum of responsibility. Although you like variety and try to evade long-term commitments, the creative activities you attract often serve little gainful purpose. Many bitter experiences occur with people who let you down or draw you, against your better judgment, into undesirable circumstances. You do not have stable conditions because changes often interfere with reaching your original goals. Restlessness, lack of consistency and routine, and lack of sustained interest or effort hamper progress and the accomplishment of your goals. These names cause mood swings that, in turn, can affect your eating habits, even causing you at times to be over-indulgent.

Your Business Signature

To the extent that you use the business signature of John Wilson, it would restrict your opportunities for progress and success. You are invariably tied to positions involving detail and routine requiring technical ability and also some skill at communication. You work hard but the remuneration is not in keeping with the efforts you put forth. The progress you make comes through a steady, persistent effort and taking advantage of small opportunities.

Your Other First Name(s)

Your name of Jonny gives you a clever, logical mind, and you could do almost anything you put your mind to. Because of your ability to analyze a situation or problem quickly, you could develop a superior air towards those who are slower in their thinking. You have always taken your responsibilities seriously and can be depended upon to do a good job. You are very independent and like to make your own decisions without interference from others. You have the ability to provide quick sound answers to the problems of others. This trait coupled with your desire to help could sometimes cause you to be thought of as interfering. You desire settled, stable conditions in your life and enjoy to be with your family. You are very self- confident and not inclined to lose your head in a crisis. You are prone to take life too seriously and a weakness of this name is excessive worry over problems and responsibilities. You should learn to take a relaxed, happy attitude toward life.

The name of John causes you to take your responsibilities seriously. You love the security of a home and family and are fond of children. Although you have good business judgment, you are not too aggressive in your dealings because you do not like to create issues. You would be successful in any position dealing with the public as you have a diplomatic and tactful manner and can put people at ease. You have the desire to help your fellow man and ease some of the suffering in the world. You have a patient and kind nature, and people are drawn to you because they feel that you are understanding and responsive. While you are honest and responsible, one weakness that is paramount in your life is your lack of self-confidence and initiative. You must learn not to depreciate your abilities; rather, you must strive to exert your will to do what you know should be done. Generally speaking, you have few problems with your health; however, there is a weakness affecting the fluid functions of the body, which could cause serious problems later in life.

The name of Jon-Boy gives you a very happy, generous nature with a great desire to serve your fellow man. However, your emotional feelings are very deep and you are inclined to let your heart rule your head, so to speak. You can be musical and artistic but lack the shrewdness necessary for business success. Under this name you must have a constructive outlet through some form of self-expression or your health could suffer, in which case you could be subject to nervous troubles, goitre, or skin problems.

Your Other Combined Name(s)

The full name of Jonny Wilson gives you the desire for inspirational, spontaneous, and creative experiences. Many opportunities for success in your undertakings come your way, particularly through your association and contact with others. You attract positions in which you manage finances and direct the efforts of others. Your level of success, of course, depends on the efforts you are willing to make. Since you have expensive tastes and want the best in life, you have a need for financial independence and all that financial success includes. Any weakness in your health would show in the reproductive organs.

Your full name of John Wilson gives you the desire for creative outlets, for much sociability, and for opportunities to give to and share with others. Although you want active conditions and variety in your life, you are constantly dealing with mundane, monotonous details. You are taken into surroundings where much hard work is required of you, but you receive little in proportion to your efforts. You can make progress through much perseverance and taking advantage of the limited opportunities that do come your way. The successes you have are the result of focused efforts. Seldom do favourable conditions come your way. Any health weaknesses would show in skin, liver, or stomach problems.

Your Previous First Name

Your name of Michael gives you a clever, logical mind, and you could do almost anything you put your mind to. Because of your ability to analyze a situation or problem quickly, you could develop a superior air towards those who are slower in their thinking. You have always taken your responsibilities seriously and can be depended upon to do a good job. You are very independent and like to make your own decisions without interference from others. You have the ability to provide quick sound answers to the problems of others. This trait coupled with your desire to help could sometimes cause you to be thought of as interfering. You are prone to take life too seriously and a weakness of this name is excessive worry over problems and responsibilities. You should learn to take a relaxed, happy attitude toward life.

Your Previous Combined Name

The full name of Michael Wilson gives you the desire for inspirational, spontaneous, and creative experiences. Many opportunities for success in your undertakings come your way, particularly through your association and contact with others. You attract positions in which you manage finances and direct the efforts of others. Your level of success, of course, depends on the efforts you are willing to make. Since you have expensive tastes and want the best in life, you have a need for financial independence and all that financial success includes.

Any weakness in your health would show in the reproductive organs.

Your Other Business Signature(s)

To the extent that you use the business signature of J. Wilson, it would cause instability and unpredictability in your affairs. Although you may strive to organize your business dealings, budgeting or financial planning would be difficult because money tends to go out as fast as it comes in. Your inclination to be overly generous in response to the needs of others often leaves you in difficult circumstances. Good luck more often than good management often saves you from difficult situations. Opportunities that come to you can turn out to be unprofitable, as conditions do not permit proper completion of your efforts. Invariably, early expectations would not be realized. Success is thus limited and you could experience many disappointments in your financial affairs.

To the extent that you use the business signature of J. M. Wilson, it brings you a degree of financial stability and success but it does not enable you fully to realize your expectations and ambitions. It involves you in responsibilities, which you take very seriously, perhaps to the extent of worry. You are taken into situations in which contact with others is restricted and your efforts and capabilities unrecognized. Opportunities usually go to someone else. This signature attracts many misunderstandings in your business dealings, thus spoiling your ability to negotiate the most favourable terms, or to bring arrangements to a completely satisfactory conclusion.

Part 3: Your Birthpath Based on your Birth Date

Everything in life has a reason for being, a purpose. For example, when an acorn under proper conditions eventually grows to become an oak tree thousands of times the size of the seed itself, the reason or potential within the seed has fulfilled its purpose.

Your purpose became seeded on a specific date with the first breath of life. The birthpath is calculated from the day, month, and year of birth. The potential indicated by the birthpath consists of qualities to be developed through your thinking and the resultant actions. These qualities may be inspirational, technical, or a combination of both.

Important Note:

The calculation of your birthpath in the following section is based on the widely used Gregorian calendar, which is recognized internationally. For births around midnight, the day of birth is always determined according to standard time, and not daylight-saving time, if it is in effect. A birth occurring in the half-hour between midnight and 12:30 am (standard time) is treated as occurring on the previous day.

Please contact the office so that we can revise your Name Report if your time of birth was in either of the following periods:

- Midnight to 12:30 am standard time
- Midnight to 1:30 am daylight-saving time

Your Birthpath Purpose

Birthpath for Your Birth date: February 25, 1983

Within you is a high-spirited, active quality with the inclination to be free to express your energies in artistic pursuits, drama, entertainment, and humour, or in promotion. You could excel along any avenue that does not restrict your spontaneous and expressive nature through too much attention to detail. Your imaginative, innovative potential could find expression in literary composition or journalism. Contact with people is necessary in the expression of your purpose. You require the opportunity to express cosmopolitan, optimistic, generous, and buoyant qualities to bring inspiration and happiness to others.

Originality in self-expression is your keynote, the highest evolution being the ability to lift and educate others to a better way of life. Success in educating others requires in-depth understanding of people, comprehension of the principles upon which life is based, and self-discipline over such qualities as intolerance, argumentativeness, or self-centredness. The emotional power within you should be directed into constructive channels to allow you to fulfil your destiny of uplifting and leading people to the realization of new and basic truths of life.

Finding time to be on your own, preferably in the out-of-doors, would allow you to think about life, to plan your efforts, and to write down your thoughts and ideas. Cultivate your inborn philosophical and scientific interest through contemplating the phenomena of nature, the cycles of time, and the universal power of life that expresses through all living things.

Learning to concentrate and finish what you start would teach you patience, the joy of accomplishment, and self-confidence. Otherwise, you would be subject to a scattering influence that will thwart the completion of your undertakings.

Everything in life has a reason for being, a purpose. For example, when an acorn under proper conditions eventually grows to become an oak tree thousands of times the size of the seed itself, the reason or potential within the seed has fulfilled its purpose.

Your purpose became seeded on a specific date with the first breath of life. The birthpath is calculated from the day, month, and year of birth. The potential indicated by the birthpath consists of qualities to be developed through your thinking and the resultant actions. These qualities may be inspirational, technical, or a combination of both.

It is essential that your name is harmonized or balanced to your birthpath in order that you accomplish what you are meant to in life.

A name with opposite qualities to the birthpath does not allow the balanced, natural expression and unfoldment of your purpose. It creates many expressions of frustration, unhappiness, and lack of fulfilment which result from desiring one thing but attracting something else. When the name is not in harmony with one's purpose, the result is turbulence, discontentment, and stress.

Your Minor Lessons

Your birth date is divided into three distinct periods of life known as the minor lessons. Your first minor lesson is determined by the calendar month of birth and covers the personal development period of life, beginning at birth and ending at 27 years of age. Childhood represents the foundation of life upon which should be built discipline, health, intelligence, love, ideals of service, and an appreciation for all humanity.

Your second minor lesson is determined by the day of the month of birth and covers the most active period of time from 27 to 54 years of age and determines the basic group of each person. All people belong to one of three basic groups: practical, social, or inspirational. The terms used in the Kabalarian Philosophy are water (practical), fire (social), and air (inspirational) groups.

Your year of birth is the third and last minor lesson and covers the period of time from 54 to the close of life. It represents the fruition period of life when each person should give back of his or her knowledge of life so others may benefit from the shared experiences.

Each period gives an opportunity to unfold a quality which is a component of your birthpath potential as determined by the date of birth.

Your 1st Minor Lesson

From birth to 27 brings the lesson of merging and working with people, using diplomacy and finesse to create understanding in your associations. Your lesson is to develop the confidence and individuality of mind to mingle with people without being swayed by them, to understand others, and to help them in the solution of their problems. You are responsible for creating rapport when there is discord and differences in opinion. Your developing perception of situations and your intelligent, clever use of language would help to eliminate discord and misunderstandings. Progress could thereby be achieved through harmony. Facing and dealing with issues while retaining your own individuality and clarity of thought could be a challenge, yet is an attainable expression of your birthpath potential. When people would come to you for advice, you must recognize the importance of respecting and retaining confidences.

Your 2nd Minor Lesson

From 27 to 54 is a time to develop your natural studious, concentrative, philosophical qualities, to seek truth and the answers to the intriguing mysteries of life. During this time you would find yourself being less expressive, desiring to be on your own to ponder life. Your qualities portray the thinker, the theorist, and the writer. All the beauty of nature touches you deeply and, in your search for truth, you could find many answers to life reflected in the phenomena and rhythms of nature. It is important to learn placidity of mind, and to take the time to contemplate and reflect upon the deeper aspects of life. You could find a natural interest in mathematics, or other scientific fields. The inspirational qualities of your potential could be developed through music, art, or drama.

Despite the sensitivity and solitary qualities of your inner nature, it is important to learn the lessons of generosity and thoughtfulness toward others, to be happy, and communicative.

Your 3rd Minor Lesson

From age 54 on represents a time for expression in inspirational endeavours such as art, music, drama, composition, singing, and public speaking which can uplift and encourage others through creative, intelligent, humorous expression. Generosity is another attribute to be developed during this time in your life. You would be successful in any position in which you could express your cosmopolitan qualities personally, spontaneously, and creatively, free from monotony or limitations. By learning system and order, you would overcome any tendency to scatter your efforts and to leave projects incomplete. Your natural affection for, and caring of, others must find constructive outlets; otherwise, you could be drawn into frivolous emotional encounters and bitter experiences.

Part 4: Relationships and Compatibility based on your Birthpath

Groups

All people belong to one of three basic groups: practical, social, or inspirational. In the Kabalarian Philosophy we call these groups: water (practical), fire (social), and air (inspirational) groups. You are in the Water Group.

The day of the month when one is born determines the group. Each group has a specific role in life and the group signifies the basic nature of the purpose within each person and, as well, indicates the conditions necessary for personal growth. The group is part of the birthpath quality. Whether this quality finds a natural expression depends upon the names used, for the names create the personality of each person and his or her destiny in life. Name is the predominant determining factor in each person's growth and development.

Table of Groups
Group	Day of Birth
Water	1, 5, 7, 10, 14, 16, 19, 23, 25, 28
Fire	2, 4, 8, 11, 13, 17, 20, 22, 26, 29, 31
Air	3, 6, 9, 12, 15, 18, 21, 24, 27, 30

Each group water, fire, or air express in specific ways.

The water group expresses in a matter-of-fact, direct, independent way, and is responsible for establishing the practical understanding of life. Water group members learn through their own efforts in self-education and self-discipline to become leaders sharing with others the benefit of their experiences. They are self-sufficient and creative but have to guard against being self-centred. Those in the water group appreciate the outdoors and find harmony and peace in nature.

The fire group has the lesson of responsibility, the lesson of association, working for and with others, coinciding viewpoints and educating and organizing others. Those in the fire group often learn through the fire of experience until they base their decisions on definite principles and are not swayed by others. They are not highly inspirational, as they seek proof through fact and logic.

The air group is here to contribute through self-expression and creative, artistic achievement. Air group members have the potential to develop universal understanding to lead the minds of others into progressive, constructive channels of thought and creativity. Being idealistic and inspirational, they should express affection and generosity. Since they feel deeply about the welfare of humanity, they can be over-emotional, temperamental, and unrealistic if not living the higher side of their nature.

Compatibility

People born into the same group can experience a natural kinship, especially if their names have relative mathematical qualities. They tend to observe life from a similar perspective, think and feel in a similar way, and enjoy similar activities. However, discord in the name can distort the natural compatibility of people in the same group.

Therefore, if you are married to or associating with someone born into a different group, an opportunity awaits you to gain an understanding of life from another perspective. Being in different groups need not spoil long-term happiness, especially when each person strives to appreciate and understand the viewpoints and the challenges that face the other person. As you can appreciate, there are many factors to consider in creating close compatibility. Creating co-operation and understanding between people is one of life's many challenges, yet necessary in generating harmony and fulfilment.

You are in the: ==> Water Group <==

In business associations, friendships, and marriage, you will find the most congeniality with those who are also in the water group. Members of the water group work best on their own; they are tenacious and work hard to accomplish their goals. Because of their extreme independence and individuality, and their self-focused approach to life, they are inclined to disregard advice and overlook the sensitivities of others. They like to do things their own way. They are not as verbally expressive as people in the fire and air groups.

Merging with the Other Groups

Those in the water group find it easier to merge with those in the fire group than with those in the air group. It is important to fire group members to blend and to get along with others; they find it easier than do people in the water and air groups to set aside their own opinions and desires to avoid issues and to create harmony. Fire group members do not tend to interfere with the independence of those in the water group. Therefore, without clear understanding of the reasons that create the differences, friction may result in close association.

Part 5: Career Selections in Relation to your Birthpath

The opportunity to choose and develop a career relative to the qualities of your inner nature is an important aspect to consider in the overall happiness and success of your life. If the wisdom of the Kabalarian Philosophy were known and understood, all children would be named in harmony with their birthpaths. Since the time of birth denotes the quality and potentialities of the power of life seeded within each person, the names given would contain qualities that allow the birthpath expression through the developing personality. Parents would know how to educate and guide their children with greater understanding.

The names used lead to particular vocations and avocations that may or may not be relative to the inner potential. It is the name that determines destiny through the quality of mind, the cause for one's path in life. Comparison between the name and the birthpath will reveal the degree of harmony or discord that has resulted, as well as the degree of satisfaction and contentment experienced in work.

It may not be practical to change your occupation. You may have already invested years in education or accumulated experience in a specific field. If this is the case, we suggest that you consider pursuing personal projects, such as hobbies, natural to your intrinsic qualities. The freedom and personal satisfaction gained would help to lessen any unhappiness and frustration created by your present occupation, and may even change or enhance your work performance, because you will be happier and more relaxed.

You may also consider building upon your existing vocation to assume other responsibilities more in keeping with the natural expression of your birthpath.

If you decide to work toward a career change, consider the importance of a change of name and understand the mental qualities required to handle the new occupation. Investigate the particulars of the vocation under review and the education that may be required. Then plan the steps carefully. This is where our telephone support services can assist you.

Part 8: Kabalarian Ethics of Right Thinking

Appreciate and respect the Power of the Word (speech); never misuse this power by swearing, vulgarity, lying and deceit, falsifying another's statement, or destroying the reputation of others.

Strive to govern moods and habits so as to create peace and happiness within your own mind and to share that peace and happiness with others through happy, constructive thoughts, through little acts of generosity and service, and through seeing good and God in others. Acts of giving never go unrewarded.

Always endeavor to develop an open mind, giving credit to others for mental effort even though they may not as yet have discovered the true light of wisdom.

Stand in awe at the threshold of wisdom in humbleness and in deep respect. Remember that wisdom expressed through you is not of your creation but always was. Your endeavor to fit and balance your mind to your higher consciousness of wisdom is your sacred duty and not optional.

Only through constant striving to eliminate bad or negative thoughts and habits can your mind feel justly proud to be a sacred part of Divine Consciousness. Mistakes sometimes occur – a mistake is not evil – it may occur through wrong evaluation or sometimes through over-anxiousness, or comparison, or undue optimism. A first mistake may be classified as an error in judgment if a lesson is learned from the experience; if not, then it is a conscious mistake upon a negative plane of mind, and serious and punishable through the law of reaction and your conscious realization that you deliberately created your own test and must now find the solution.

Kill out ego and false pride. Never take the know-it-all attitude, for to do so is to kill out natural incentive and progress.

Remember that your mind is the greatest instrument in the universe. As you think, so are you, because the nature of your thoughts indicates the plane of mind to which you are tuned; thus, your thinking and you are one. If you did but realize the power of your own mind for good or for destructiveness, you would check every thought and utterance. Do not say wrong or hurtful things for fun or to build up your own importance. Remember false pride comes before a fall. Never negate your thoughts and ideas; never say "can't" or depreciate your ability to equal or better the performances of others. What others have done, you can do, and do better, but do not say so; prove it in greater application than others, for only by effort and application shall your works be known. Never make idle and boastful statements; say only that which is logical and truthful. Learn to know when to speak, and always express your thoughts in a refined and dignified way so as to leave the best impression.

Be systematic, proceed step by step, and learn to finish the things you start. Never make a promise that you cannot, or do not, intend to carry out; thus will you always speak truth. Align yourself always upon the side of justice, truth, and honesty. Do not meet others upon the plane of anger, wrongdoing, or thoughtlessness. Always use the power of analysis, particularly when in doubt. Never attempt to alibi that which you know is wrong. Keep your mind always upon a constructive plane of thinking. Remember, your sins will always find you out.

Always seek an ideal, an objective, and the proper method of application. Create a refined and individual personality, a happy and generous one. Develop clean and tidy habits, body cleanliness, and a clean mind. Be conservative, yet creative, in your dress. Avoid showiness in dress and loudness in speech. Make others want to pattern themselves after you: that is a well deserved compliment, and indicates adherence to Kabalarian Ethics of Right Thinking.
